SINCE Mr. TILDEN flatly proclaimed to the Democrats who visited him, to get his crush out and wipe out all the measures views on the candidacy, that he should "stick," there have been no fresh delegations sent to Ohio to confer with JEWETT. That boom died early.

In view of the recent terrible outrages committed in this District, Congress should act quickly, or the citizens may consider that patience has ceased to be a virtue, and ovganize a vigilance committee for their own protection and the speedy administration of justice. The petition may be found to-day at the office of S. H. WALKER, esq., on Louisiana avenue, near the city postoffice. We are reminded of this sentiment when memory runs back over almost two decades and we recollect it is an institution of world-wide finne that during that period one of the most sanguinary and expensive civil wars known to history has occurred in the heart of the most enlightened and powerful Republic that exists; we are also reminded that it has been fought out with unparalleled determination and heroism on both sides-has ended in peace-with the embers of passion still lingering though dying, to keep in memory the era of ensanguined strife. The enemies of 1861 to 1865 have given notice to the world that they have ceased to be such, TILDEN has hitched up his team and and have determined, if possible, to become friends in the fullest sense of the term. There is no denying the fact that there have been and still are obstacles in THE friends of BLAINE in Iowa will the way of complete harmony and fraternity between those who have been at war, but who should now cease to be enemies. Some of these obstacles are the creation of the people at the South and are inspired by the animosities engendered through strife; while others come of the Democrats of the North, who instigated the rebellion and then sneaked from its responsibilities, leaving the South to suffer the worst consequences of that terrible affair. It is strictly Anglo-American in point of territory, and is visited, studied and admired by the people of all nations. Of so general importance is it regarded that an effort is being made to create an international park at and around the great cataract of Niagara. Ex-Lieutenant Governor Dorsheimer, a gentleman of proverbial public spirit, talent and taste, was appointed last fall on a commission to recommend some action look-
